

HIST 150
HISTORY OF AMERICAN WOMEN
1600-1900

3 Units
54 hours lecture; 54 hours total

Recommended Preparation: ENGL 90

An in-depth study of the experiences and contributions of women in the political and social development of the U.S. from the precolonial period to the end of the 19th century. History, as experienced by the “common woman”, will be traced using letters and diaries. This course will focus on the contributions of Native American, African American, Latina/Chicana, and Asian American Women contrasted to Euro American.

CSU, UC

Student Learning Outcomes:

- A. Critically analyze primary source evidence in the context of broader historical themes and developments.
- B. Argue a historical thesis that explains the development of social, political, economic and/or cultural patterns in history, and use primary and/or secondary sources to support that thesis.